

Mental Illness does not exist

Written by K B Napier
Monday, 13 May 2013 16:10

"There is no scientific evidence that psychiatric diagnoses such as schizophrenia and bipolar disorder are valid or useful, according to the leading body representing Britain's clinical psychologists." (The Guardian, 12 May 2013)

This is the best news I have had for a very long time and it verifies my real concerns regarding such things as Borderline Personality Disorder \(BPD\) .

Since the early 1970s I have opposed the very idea of 'mental illness', so it is about time my opposition was finally given a wider recognition. We need to get people from under the heavy atheistic yoke of psychiatry.

Never fall for the emotional blackmail of tears!! Christians must be made of tougher stuff!!