

German Marshall Fund advocate propaganda to sell Global Warming to the public

Written by K B Napier

Monday, 01 November 2010 10:17

Christina Elvers (a programme associate with the German Marshall Fund of the United States) advocates ignoring the scientific arguments that debunk Global Warming and just sell the message with spin and lies (propaganda). Cranks will keep on trying to make us 'green', so we must keep on opposing.

“Climate change isn't the hot topic that it used to be. But if politicians across the Atlantic are smart and re-work their narrative into stories with a positive appeal, Europeans and Americans might get excited about it once again.” \(EUobserver, 26 October 2010\)

© 1 November 2010

---oOo---

{loadposition btm_address}